V. B. PATAMER, the American Newspaper Agusticed Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, No.

D'There is among many of our friends a deep stated prejudice against the appointment of Members of Congress as Delegates to the National Convention. Their argument is that it is restoring the old Congress Caucus System, which became so unpopular that it was ndoned by the Democratic party. Several of the nties in this State have protested against Baltimore s the place of holding the National Convention, because it is too near the atmosphere of Washington much under the pressure of Congressional influence. nembers of Congress were generally appointed, there would certainly be much force in the objection; but there are but few States who have or will appoint Members as Delegates. The objection, therefore, against the appointment of the Members from this State is in a great measure removed. Our Members are in Washington and their appointment would supercede the necessity of others attending, except in the Sixth and Tenth Distriets, from which Delegates might be appointed.

We make these suggestions for the consideration the Convention; and we have but one further remark all the members or none should be appointed. The selection of a part and the rejection of others would show an unjust partiality. Our members are all trust-worthy, and it would be wrong to draw invidious distinctions.

Temperance.

The following is the Temperance Pledge adopted some weeks since by the Temperance Meeting recently held at Wesley Chapel:

"We, whose names are hereunto subscribed, hereby pledge to each other and to the public, our faith and honor, that in all future elections; we will withhold our suffrage from every man who does not use his influence in promoting the cause of Tempe, ance reformation, and who does not actively favor Legislative enactment for suppressing the making, rectifying, and selling of intoxicating liquor as a beverage.

"A committe consisting of Messas. Secrest, Downey, Blake, C. Fietcher, Greer, and Hand was appointed, charged with the duty of engaging suitable persons in each township to circulate and obtain signatures to the Pledge.

"The friends of Temperance throughout the county may expect to be waited upon soon, and it is confidently hoped that a sufficient number will be found to secure rough temperance candillates by both political con-

If the political conventions which assemble next week fail to make Legislative enactments for the suppression of the sale and manufacture of ardent spirits or intoxicating liquors a part of their political platform, then we understand that it is the intention of the friends of Temperance to make a separate political organization, and nominate a thorough temperance ticket. This will make four tickets in the next election, Democratic, Whig, Temperance, and Freesoil.

Correction.

We hasten to correct a mistake which occurred in an editorial published a short time since, in which it was stated that Mr. Bright introduced a resolution into the National Convention recommending that, in future Con-▼ n ions, no more delegates be appointed than the number of electoral votes which the State may be entitled to. It was Mr. Wells, of New Hampshire, who made that motiop. Mr. Bright moved to lay it on the table, stating motion. Such aresolution was reported and adopted Ayes 208 noes 41 We now understand that Mr. Bright was opposed to this resolution sion, that the southern whig party occupy this position—that no man shall receive their votes whose opinion Indiana has heretofore appointed six delegates from the State at large and three from each District.

til the Bultimore convention meets; and that body will be less embarrassed in its action; and find a more cordial support of their nomination at home. This is the policy we have all along invised upon, and we are more and more convinced of its correctiess. It may appear hest at Baltimore to nominate one or the other of the distinguished men whose friends are contesting the mutter so hitterly in Pennsylvania; and the issue made there by their respective friends may create a difficulty that would not otherwise exist.

Everything for the cause: softing at all for more would not otherwise exist.

Everything for the cause; sothing at all for men? The Baltimere convention must studiously disregard all personal and local preferences.

Is the man proposed a true democrat? Has he proved himself so in word and deed? With he encounter generally the least of local or sectional prejudice?

The mass of the democratic party are not for men, whatever the politicians may say. They have a right to expect and demand that the less selection be made, or gardiess of all selfish combinations and local or State.

We claim the credit of being above them all. We only only to the success of the democratic party open ound principles; a success without any compromise of he party or its principles; a success that we

You will see it published in all the city apers of Washington, and a telegraphic dispatch will end it to the associated press of New York.

The medal is 34 inches in diameter, and weight about nineteen ounces in gold. It contains a very good like-ness of Mr. Clay on one side, and a wreath of the sta-dropped in Virginia; Douglas is substituted for him, and will, most unquestionably, receive the nomination from that State. This will make the fifth entire State Douglas has carried, which is certainly as good a start, as other candidates will be able to boast of who, but a few months ago, were supposed to be able to sway the country from Maine to Texas. On the score of availability I doubt whether a more formidable candidate (formidable to the Whigs I mean) could be selected than Judge Douglas. On the other hand, the friends of Gen. Cass, are exhibiting a strength, in New York, in Pennsylvu-nia, in New Jersey, and in Ohio, which is striking ternis, in New Jersey, and ror into the followers of Buchan n, Marcy and modore Stockton. As one of your correspondents very properly observed, the hearts of the masses are still with him, and he still possesses the confidence of his but the politicians North and South will never a said which tried men's with him, and he still possesses the confidence of his peers; but the politicians North and South will never pardon his patriotism at a period which tried men's souls, and they will not contribute to the election of a man who has so signally defeated their schemes against the constitution and the Union. The union of the party may thus defeat the man, who has been so prominent a champion of the Union.

UNION.

In a reent debate in Congress Mr. Cabell, Whig, from Florida said he thanked God that the whigs had got id of free-soil supporters, and charged that, unless the Union party sent dlegates to the Baltimore convention. t would be controlled by abolitionists and disunionists. On Mr. Jackson, of Georgia, being mentioned, he arose and avowed that he was run expressly as a democrat: Mr. Johnson, of Arkansas, made the same statement both of whom were considered as of the Union organizaion. Upon this. Mr. Cabell seemed to feel anxious about the fate of the Union party, and remarked that he Baltimore convention might nominate Gen. If the Baltimore convention thus declare, they will uphold the position of the Union party of Georgia, and we are willing, as far as indications go, to unite with the convention to try the experiment. In a patriotic, candid frank speech, he declared that the time for preserving the Union had passed by. Mr. Disney declared that he was opposed to any repeal or modification of the slave law, while Mr. Campbell, whig free-soil, said that he was willing to vote for either. Mr. McMullen, democrat, said that the old fashioned democratic Jeffers, hunker party was the real Union party of the country.

Another Leak ! Stop it!

The House of Representatives has had its attention called to a Department in which there has probably been as profligate a waste of the public money carried on within a few years past, as in any of the better known design and Mr. Buchanan, which has been carried to a very unhappy extent. These State contests answer no purpose but to injure the party they are intended to benefit; and are very unfortunate in such a State as Bounsylvania, upon which a good deal may depend. In a State decidedly whig, or entirely democratic, such a contest might do little harm, but even then could do little good.

Caus and Buchanan are both great men—both known to the democratic party from one end of the Union to the other. They will need no State endorsements at Baltimore. Let every man have his own preference until the Baltimore convention meets; and that body will be less embarrassed in its action; and find a more cordial personnel of the judiciary, independent of the judges, from

The President of the United States, Senators Jones of Tennessee, Underwood and Fish, with Ewing, Brooks and Briggs of the House of Representatives, were present on the occasion; but no member of the Cabinet, not even Mr. Webster, although the latter had left a card with the committee. It is strange, indeed, but nevertheless true, that the long feud between Clay and Webster is not yet ended, and that both these eminant, and great men are now tottering to their graves without having forgiven one another. Clay's influence will be employed to the last, to defeat the nomination of Daniel Webster, and it is probably for this reason, that Mr. Fillmore suffers himself to be pursuaded not to publicly avow that himself is no candidate for re-election. With the conservative branch of the Whig party divided between Fillmore and Webster, Gen. Scott will have hat little difficulty in securing for himself the nomination at Philadelphia.

It is now a fixed fact that Mr. Buchannan is entirely land of their fathers, where wealth, self-respect, and self-governing rights invite them to become a free and independent people. To them it is a most creditable movement; to the whites it may be a timely peace-offering. Some States, like Indiana, fearing to make their soil and their courts a perpetual battle-ground for the recovery of fugitive slaves, propose to shut their doors on the disturbers by refusing admittance or residence to colored persons. Without disputing the policy of this preventive system, it may be said that it becomes a collatoral duty to point out an alternative, and lead the outlateral duty to point out an alternative, and lead the out-casts to a home of refuge in which they can live, im-prove, and be happy, and yet create no strife among prove, and be happy, and yet create no strife among others. Those who believe one race is as good and capable as the other, and who ask for the blacks a perfect equality and social admixture with the whites, should co-operate zealously with this movement, which places them in a position to verify the highest hopes and enables them to prove to the world—and there can be no surer cure for unjust prejudices—the worth, enterprise, and capacity of the Africans. Here is an ample theat re for the friends of Africa of every shade. African aid societies can be formed in every town, in every conaid societies can be formed in every town, in every e gregation in the Union, on the basis and outline of M gregation in the Union, on the basis and outline of Missionary Aid Societies. Those who have no particular missionary of their own to send—for any moral and industrious person that settles in Africa is a missionary of salutary justruction there—can throw in their quota in some other form. Many little rills flowing together make a river to float a navy.

Will not the 22d of February be a suitable and happy time for the churches of Indiana and her sister States to their appropriates and to an emigration impulse which ous aid to an emigration impulse which opens heathen and long-suffering Africa to the light of Christianity and civilization?

If only one or two generous and earnest preachers would lead the way and create African Aid Societies in their congregations, more would follow, and there would soon be State organizations, and hopeful settlements raoidly multiply on the rich and fertile, but wild and neglected, continent of Africa. A new world of moral light and prosperity may be born in that vast and teeming region, if the ministers of America will say the word.

The Mexican towns west of Eagle Pass are in a fer

Fort Duncan I. Rich, Esq. started some carts with mer-chandize to Monclova, but suspecting a trap he ordered them to return to the American side. They were folowed, the oxen shot down in the river, and two carts pillaged after they had regained United States soil. As this was done officially the Cabinet may condescend to order an inquiry. Three lives were lost in the attack. Eagle Pass and Fort Duncan are in blockade by the Indians, and not a mounted soldier within a hundred miles.

Mr. B. said that this resolution was reported in order to obtain the sense of the House before a bill is prepared, and he hoped members would vote now as they will when the bill is reported by the committee.

Mr. Doughty said that he was in favor of a State heard of equalization, but he was not prepared to vote for a re-valuation of the real estate of the State. He thought that there should be a division of the question.

Mr. Hart said that a number of the counties in his section of the State were dissatisfied with the present valuation. He therefore demanded a division of the question, is order that a direct vote could be obtained on each proposition separately.

Mr. Curpenter remarked that if there ever was a time when the people of the State demanded a re-valuation of the real estate, that time is now, and he toped the House would consider the matter well and set understandingly before a vote was taken.

Mr. Bonaldoon inquired of Mr. Bushirk what kind of a board the committee would organize?

Mr. Bushirk replied that he was not now prepared to state, but he thought there should be a board to consist of one member from each judicial or congressional district. He would also state that he thought there would be no me of a State hoard without a re-valuation.

Mr. Rolman thought this a very important question, and members should look well to the subject. He said the question whe not whether the House will agree to any particular system of equalization, but whether we will have a State hoard of equalization. He thought if a board was appointed, they could squalize the real estate upon the appraisement made in 1850 as well us upon an appraisement made hereafter.

Mr. Brealy said there was great injustice in the present valuation of lands is the different portions of the State, and it is absolutely accessary that some change chould be made in order to equalize that valuation.

Mr. Lewis thought that if the House would only give the resolution some attention, he had no doubt it would be ease.

Mr. Realey was opposed to the resolution. He thought is

Mr. Goodins was in favor of a State board and a vevaluation of the real cetate. It was a constitutional daty, incumbent upon every member of the House, to provide for an equal valuation and assessment of the property of the State for taxation. It was a well known fact, that the lands in counties adjoining in different portions of the State, differ to a considerable amount in their valuation.

Mr. Dobson was opposed to a re-valuation. He thought that the people do not desire it. There will always be a difference in the price of lands in counties adjoining, and in fact, in the same counties, owing only trely to the situation of the lands. Those lands nearest market, or on public improvements, will always demand; higher value than those at a distance from such places.

Mr. Holman thought there was no necessity for a represent, and he hoped the House would consent to ty the first proposition on the table, and take a vote distance of the state of the sta valuation.

Mr. Dobson was opposed to a re-valuation. He sthought that the people do not desire it. There will always be a difference in the price of lands in counties adjoining, and in fact, in the same counties, owing entirely to the situation of the lands. Those lands nearest market, or on public improvements, will always demand a higher value than those at a distance from such places.

Mr. Holman thought there was no necessity for a resporaisement, and he hoped the House would consent to lay the first proposition on the table, and take a vote directly on the question of the establishment of a State board of equalization.

Mr Hart objected. He stated that it was upon his motion that the question was divided, and he must insist upon taking a direct vote upon the question for the revaluation of the real estate.

Mr. Holman moved to amend by adding, "who shall equalize the appraisement of real estate made for taxation in the year 1851." He thought that the State Board could very easily equalize the real estate on the appraisement made last year.

Mr. Donaldson remarked that if the evil complained of was to be remedied, he thought there should be an equalization in the townships as well as in the counties, for the inequality, in his opinion, could not be remedied without an entire re-appraisement.

Mr. Smith of Spencer was opposed to both a re-valuation, and also to the creation of a State Board of Equalization. He thought that there was as much honesty among those who appraised the property last year, as there will be among those who will appraise it hereafter, hence he could see no necessity for incurring the expense.

This instrument is light and clastic, and is made without the Steel Springs, which is objectionable, on account of their chaffing the hips, &c., making them extremely unpleasant to be worn.
Ladies suffering from the above devangements, and Physicians particularly, are solicited to give them a trial in their practice, to prove their superiority over the Steel Spring and other handages. Several Professors of Obsettres, &c., and also a number of physicians in this city, and throughout the United States, have adopted them in their practice with the most decided beneficial results, and highly recommend and approve them. The following is from Prof. Woodward, Cinchinati, Ohio.

'I have examined and used to it considerable extent, during a practice of nearly twenty-five years, a great variety of Spring and faced Buildages, designed for the relief and care of the several affections to which your instruments are applicable, but for mechanical execution, as well as the accurate adaptation of the enstruments to their search designs, I have never seen any that has given me more satisfaction.
